

In the published article, the symbology used in Figure 1 does not correspond with the legend. The correct figure is provided here.

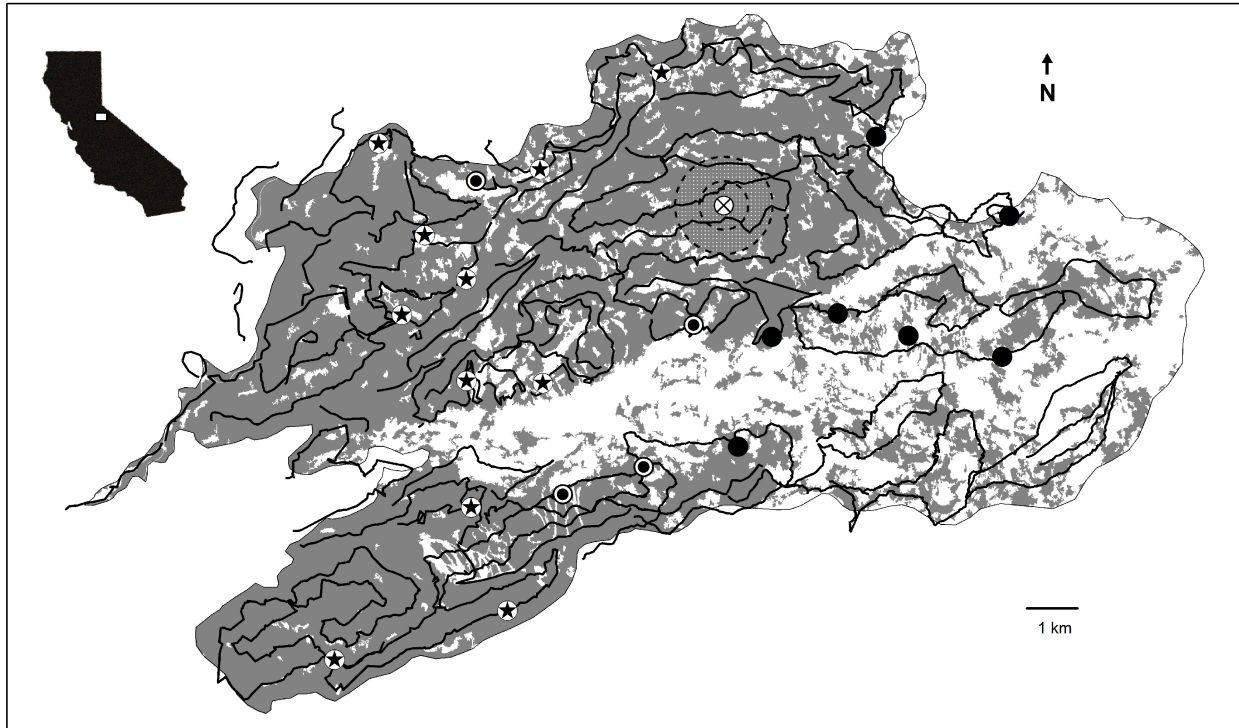

Figure 1. Pinecrest study area. Shaded area indicates  $\geq 10\%$  forest cover; solid lines, landscape-scale census transects; circles enclosing stars, hooting groups censused in both 2009 and 2011; circles enclosing dots, hooting groups censused in 2009 only; solid dots, hooting groups assessed by ad hoc or incomplete censuses, 2006–2009; circle enclosing an  $\times$ , a hypothetical hooting male, surrounded by gridded areas representing maximum distances of audibility of 500 m (Hjorth 1970) and 1000 m (Doerr et al. 1984).